In the wake of rapid increase of covid cases in the Country creating an alarming situation, the Confederation of All India Traders (CAIT) has postponed its two days National Traders Meet which was scheduled to be held on forthcoming 11-12 January at Kanpur. The meet was to be participated by prominent trade leaders of all the States to discuss in depth the issues arising out of E Commerce & GST as also other burning issues of the trading community.

CAIT National President Shri BC Bhartia and National Secretary General Shri Praveen Khandelwal while announcing the postponing of the National Traders Conference said that the CAIT has risen to the occasion in as much as it cares for the trade leaders and also if any chance of covid escalation through the trade leaders in case anyone is suffering from covid. We have begun the initiative and expect that all political parties will follow and cancel their political rallies and programs in view of covid outbreak. This is not the time to accrue political gains, but to work towards making every citizen of the country safe from the growing pandemic. We regret that due to the negligence of various political parties, the leaders of different parties or their workers are getting infected with corona.

If they don't bother for the people at least they should be concerned for their own health and that of workers and the staff and better cancel the political rallies and gatherings
